

This DVD has been compiled to allow people to sample a variety of different web development tools to help determine which ones best suit your own personal needs and contains almost 1.5GB of installers.

The versions of most software supplied here are NOT the full “commercial” application – rather they are trial versions that are either time limited and/or have some features disabled.

However, some of the applications are freeware or are available free of charge. Check with each individual installer for the full license terms. Users are responsible for the payment of any shareware or other fees or costs involved in using this software
